Dean Professor Mona Elbasyouni

Amidst all challenges and requirements of the current era, Modern Academy for Engineering has managed to provide graduates who are highly qualified to become distinct contributors to the Egyptian as well as the Arab world's progressive plans. The academy has offered remarkable academic as well as training services to its students, through which it has gained a prestigious status among the institutes majoring in the field of engineering. It is a great pleasure and honor to serve as a (dean) of this prominent academy at this phase, wherein our nation is endeavoring to establish itself as a leading nation worldwide.

Since its establishment in 199-, Modern Academy for engineering has prosperously accomplished its mission of maintaining an eminent status among engineering institutes in Egypt and the Arab world. Amongst all challenges, developments and renovations, the academy has strived to sustain its position as a beacon of knowledge.

The academy's graduates have successfully participated in prospective goals of our nation on both the academic and professional levels. Modern Academy for Engineering has set the provision of highly efficient engineers as its definitive goal. The academy's programs and training do not merely target a distinguished degree of engineering. Observing, predicting and serving the job market is one of the academy's major objectives. Persistent endeavors are sustained to thoroughly update and revise the academy's courses, training and services not only remain at the same pace with current progress, but also to become pioneers of the market.

Among the basic commitments of the academy is furnishing its students with academic and professional tools that would equip them to become prosperous and notable in their domains. This is fully realized through the academy's devoted staff, diligent students, and remarkable faculty members.

At this point of great achievement, our students are beginning to reap what they have been sowing throughout the years of study. The laborious years of study are eventually being appreciated. The academy's entire personnel pledges to maintain its status as a renowned institution of knowledge that would constantly be a source of pride and honor to its graduates.

Vice Dean associate Professor Reham Mustafa

Modern Academy for Engineering and Technology has always strived to be one of the pioneering centers in the fields of education, training, research and consultation with a view to provide distinguished calibers to serve in the Engineering Market and the whole community as a whole.

It is my great honor and enormous pleasure to serve as the dean of this significant milestone at this challenging time reflecting the ability to confront all changing conditions and address all challenges.

Our mission is to efficiently integrate all of our facilities, and resources to qualify young generations for the requirements of the knowledge-based societies and to provide intellectual and market-driven academic programs to prepare excellent calibers who have the competitive capability to meet the market needs at the local and international levels and conduct studies and researches, in addition to providing consultation to support and develop this vital industry by using the most developed techniques which meet the international criteria and accreditation standards.

The issue of educational development is of growing international interest. It has also become of increasing concern to different sectors of the society and is not only limited to the small number of specialists and professionals involved.

New ideas have recently emerged causing current educational systems to being no longer adequate to prepare the new generations for their new world. Meeting this kind of educational challenge and suggesting solutions for the present educational problems should take priority over other problems—whether economic, social or political. Hence, improving and developing educational systems should be given the full attention of the administration.

Serving the needs of our students and community is the ultimate goal of our Academy. Such a goal will only be achieved through adopting suitable learning and teaching strategies in addition to continuous improvement.

Last but not least, Modern Academy's success resides in our dedicated staff, vigorous student body, and outstanding faculty members.

Vice Dean Associate Professor Sameh Shenawy

Living in this challenging world, being actually hindered by many obstacles, engineering profession has revealed to be one of the most notable endeavors to solve the crucial problems facing humanity. Being an engineer is exciting, tiring, and demanding; it requires full use of your abilities. As an engineer, you will confront unforeseen circumstances, problematic tasks and unavoidable failures. Engineering enables you create impossible solutions, in other words, helps you trust in yourself. Engineers have to acquire the critical and creative thinking skills required for the successful development, this can be achieved by attaining the leadership and management skills that will, in turn, create effective teams and communication routines.

The objective of Modern Academy for Engineering and Technology is to prepare our graduates to start their careers and professional stage by planning, developing, designing, directing, estimating, and managing safely the different engineering processes with all their costs. Accordingly, our courses and designed programs aim at graduating future engineers capable of comprehending and accepting the moral, ethical, legal, and professional obligations and responsibilities. The programs and courses presented are under rigorous revision and constant updating, not to cope the complex and rapid changes of the current community, but to be leaders in all the engineering majors.

The atmosphere of equality offered by the academy helps the wide diversity of the students, with their multiple ethnicities and cultural backgrounds enjoy a very positive learning environment. Modern Academy is keen on providing an outstanding learning environment with distinct and developed methods of teaching and learning, preparing the graduates for the labor market and the jobs of the future.
